Preksha Jain is one of our students from the batch of 2013-16 at the IIS University-Jaipur. I have been associated with her as a faculty member for the Bachelors of Mass Communication and Journalism degree at the University.

Preksha has learnt Production, Management and Execution Techniques under me during her tenure at the University. She possesses an ability to work under pressure and always has displayed adequate fervor for academics as a student at the University. She has effective communication skills in English, both written and oral, which I happened to observe during the seminar presentations based on the projects during the entire course.

Apart from academics, Preksha has showcased exemplary leadership skills as the appointed volunteer of Literary Society, (13-14) and Deputy Head Girl of the University, (15-16). With her proficient oratory skills, she has bagged awards in numerous inter- university debates, declamations and other literary events, making the University proud. She has never missed an opportunity to contribute to the University with the best of her Capabilities. Her affluent communication skills and her command over language adds immense value to her personality. Her socially amiable attitude helps her developing long lasting and reverential relationships with peers and mentors.

Preksha has been able to manage time very well and has always fulfilled the academic Commitments within the prescribed deadlines. She is deeply motivated and has the aptitude to take up further studies and excel in the chosen field of learning. I recommend her based on her performance at the IIS university-Jaipur. I am sure she will prove to be a worthy student in your prestigious university.
