VISIT TO WILFRED FOR BLOOD DONATION CAMP

25 September 2015

100 NSS volunteers of the IIS University visited St Wilfred College, Mansarovar for State level Blood Donation Camp organized by Directorate of Rajasthan. Since a camp was planned in University campus on October 2, 2015, the volunteers did not donate in that space but pledged to do so regularly.

YOGA AND MEDITATION

26.9.2015

Day by day, competition among students is increasing leading to more and more stress and hence lifestyle problems such as-obesity. Thus, there is a major need for all of us to devote a little time to ourselves. We could do some form of physical exercise along with meditation to calm our nerve cells.

For this purpose, NSS unit of The IIS University called Janki Pareek to orient its volunteers with basic yoga and meditation. 160 NSS Volunteers of the University participated in the same. Janki Pareek started with breathing exercises (or pranayamas). We did anilomvilom, kapaalbhati, brahmahari and deep breathing with Om chanting. All the volunteers enthusiastically followed her directions.

This was followed by a short session of meditation. During meditation, she guided us while we closed our eyes to a beautiful journey of our body from tip of the toes to our pony tails. She told us to connect ourselves with the surroundings. This left all the volunteers filled with immense energy and joy. Each and every student felt an unknown peacefulness in their minds and bodies.

Overall, this week's session was a much needed one for all the students who were/are going through their CA tests. Now, they will be able to concentrate more and be more efficient in their work.

BLOOD DONATION CAMP

2 October 2015

The enthusiasm was amazing this year towards donating blood and the results were equally amazing. Out of 110 registrations 82 including students and faculty members were able to donate after their hemoglobin tests were acceptable.

Some of them cleaned all classrooms. As an initiative from the NSS volunteers of the previous year all class rooms have been provided with dustbins.

GUEST LECTURE ON IPR

17 October 2015

The NSS Units of The IIS University welcomed Mr. Pankaj Kumar of the The IIS University to make the students aware of the meaning and importance of IPR, i.e., Intellectual Property Rights. The session started with Dr. Sharad Rathore welcoming Mr. Kumar. He held an interactive session with the students on the basics of patents, copyrights, trademarks, etc. This was followed by a video which emphasized on the different types of IPR, their uses and their differences. Overall, the session was very informative and the students benefitted a lot and 167 NSS Volunteers participated in the same.

CELEBRATION OF NATIONAL UNITY DAY AT THE IIS UNIVERSITY

31 October 2015

To mark the National Unity day, the birth anniversary of Sardar Vallabh Bhai Patel, NSS Units of the IIS University organized a programme. Dr. Sharad Rathore introduced the role of Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel in the integration of the country after Independence in 1947. The mammoth task of bringing together the 525 princely states after the lapse of 795 princely states by the British was accomplished effortlessly by Patel. While dismantling the difficulties owing to the wishes of the rulers of Junagadh, Hyderabad, Jodhpur and Kashmir, Patel appealed to the patriotic and national sentiments of the Princes inviting them to join the forming of a democratic constitution in the national interest. He thereafter led to the assimilation, centralization and unification of states. The states were brought together to form a union creating the Union of India. 150 NSS Volunteers participated in the same.

After this brief introduction the NSS volunteers took a solemn pledge to preserve the unity, integrity and security of the nation and to spread the message of unity among the fellow countrymen.

This was followed by slogan writing by the students within the limit of 10-15 words on the Unity of the country.

Thereafter the students assembled for a rally focusing on National Unity with their ready slogans. The rally was flagged off by Dr. Renu Shungloo, Director Sports the IIS University from the University campus. The rally covered sector 1, 2, 5 and 6 SFS Agarwal Farm and the Shopping centre Mansarovar and they conveyed the message of Unity and integrity through their posters which they carried during the walk. The rally converged in the University campus. A total of 150 students participated in different activities during the event.

LECTURE ON AVIAN CONSERVATION

4 January 2016

The degradation of the environment in the present times has affected all the living beings on this planet-whether human beings, fauna, flora and even the climate and the weather etc. In this degradation the humans have a large role as they have exploited the environment mindlessly leading to increasing levels of pollution, deforestation, mining of the resources leading to the depletion of the Ozone layer etc. All these man made activities have resulted in alteration in the pattern of the cycle of nature and global warming etc. We with our actions have also adversely affected the animal and plant world by cutting down the forests and displacing both. In the rat-race of the time we have further become cold hearted towards the pains and agonies of the living world. On the festival of MakarSakranti, we fly kites and enjoy mindlessly and have no concern for the avian world. Thus to make the people aware of the hard times that the birds face due to kite flying on the day of MakarSakranti and the careless attitude of the people to pay no attention to the birds so injured with the glass coated Manjha, the Aavian conservation awareness lecture was organized on 4th January , 2016. 140 NSS Volunteers participated for the same.

The team of volunteers headed by Rohit Gangwal from RakshaOrganisation of Jaipur interacted with 140 NSS volunteers. The lecture was focused on the avian conservation in the light of the arrival of the festive season of Makar Sankranti. Mr. Gangwal told that the sky belongs to the birds and we encroach their space by flying kites just hampering their flights. So we should take care to not fly the kites between 6 to 8 in the morning and 4 to 7 in the evening. The second important point that he raised is to stop the use of glass coated maanja for flying kites as the birds get cuts and are injured and sometime loose their life too and are unable to fly forever. Thirdly he informed about the Bird-relief camp which this NGO would set up at 3 places in the city where the injured birds could be brought for treatment. And lastly he shared the helpline number through which a mere phone call would be enough on which a volunteer from Raksha would take the injured bird for treatment.

On his occasion it was decided that to hold a joint rally in the Mansarovar area on 8th January at 9.30 a.m.

AVIAN CONSERVATION RALLY WITH RAKSHA

8 January 2016

On the 8th January 2016 an avian conservation rally was organized with the purpose of making the public aware about bird injuries due to kite flying. About 300 volunteers of NSS assembled near the Housing Board Office at Agarwal Farm, Mansarovar at 9.30 a.m. The rally was flagged off by Ms. Sunita Jain, Patron of Raksha and Prof Sharad Rathore, NSS Programme officer, The IIS University. The students in files of three walked across Madhyam Marg, via Durgadas Park and reached B-2 bypass and finally converged in the IIS University campus. The students carried banners and posters with slogans on Avian conservation such as 'Stop the use of glass coated maanja', 'Save the Birds', 'Do not fly kites between 6-8 a.m. and 5-7 p.m.', 'Bring Injured Birds to the Bird Treatment Camp', etc. This rally was done under police supervision and was covered by media. The rally was welcomed by the public who stopped to read the messages and slogans on the placards carried by the students.

VIVEKANANDA JAYANTI

12 January 2016

To commemorate the 150th birth anniversary of Swami Vivekananda a programme was organised at The IIS University auditorium by NSS Units of the IIS University Jaipur. 130 NSS Volunteers participated in the same. It was also aimed to acquaint the youth with the philosophy of Swamiji and the ideals for which he lived and worked to act as a great source of inspiration for the Youth. Dr. Poonam Sharma from the Department of Political Science delivered a speech in which she shared the life history and thoughts of Swami Vivekananda to make the students aware of his contribution in nation building. She told about his birth on January 12, 1863 in Calcutta; education and his works. He breathed his last on July 4, 1902 at the young age of 39. He was the founder of Ramakrishna Mission (1897), his often spoken quote was "Arise, Awake and Stop not till the goal is reached".

Dr. Poonam Sharma stated the literary works of this great monk on Bhakti Yoga, Karam Yoga, and the last Raj Yoga. She also said that Vivekananda was interested in spiritualism and was committed and goal targeted. Vivekananda inspired the youth with "to achieve goal, read together, take up one idea and make that idea your life; Think of it, dream of it; live that idea; let the brain, muscles, nerves, every part of your body, be full of that idea and just leave every other idea alone. This is the way to success". Further, "If you have faith in all the three hundred and thirty millions of your mythological gods, and still have no faith in yourselves; there is no salvation for you. Have faith in yourselves, and stand up on that faith and be strong; that is what we need."

Dr. Sharma stressed the importance of Swamiji's teachings in today's modern world. She talked about the youth being the real strength of our country, and India needs the young people to come forward and carry the baton of its growth and development. She also explained through Swamiji's words about the importance of understanding our rich Indian culture in the face of rising westernization, which is eroding our culture with the help of an informative Power Point Presentation. Dr. Sharma also highlighted the difference between the character and reputation. She ended her speech with beautiful quotes written by Swami Vivekananda.

Dr. Sharad Rathore, NSS Programme Officer, further added that Vivekananda represented India in the world Parliament of Nations held at Chicago. There he addressed the people with "my fellow brothers and sisters of America" and won the hearts of all. He highlighted the essential tenets of vedantic philosophy that believes in the concept of Vasudhevakutumbakam and the present of the paramatma in every atma and when he ended his speech, everyone present there gave a standing ovation to Swamiji.

Dr. Sharad Rathore ended the program by summing up all the activities and thoughts of Vivekananda, which continue to inspire the youth for a very long time and his contribution in the enrichment of Indian culture. This programme enriched the young students with the inspiring thoughts and works of Vivekananda, to lead a meaningful life and bring laurels to our country.

In the end all participants took the following pledge to devote their lives to their country and countrymen. "I pledge to leave no stone unturned to integrate myself in India's progress and ensure youth-led development across the Nation. I will strive for the universal brotherhood in the country, respect all religions and be tolerant towards them. I will treat women with respect and pride and maintain utmost integrity to the nation and its citizens, while giving my heart and soul for the nation."

ONE BILLION RISING: GUEST LECTURE by MS. ABHA BHAIYA

4 February 2016

The NSS Units of the University organized a programme on One Billion Rising in which issues pertaining to violence against women were taken up. 135 NSS Volunteers participated in the same. The programme started with welcoming of Ms. AbhaBhaya, Founder and Senior Advisor, Jagori Rural Charitable Trust and TARA. She was accompanied by Dr. Meeta Singh, Chairperson, Dignity of the Child, Jaipur and Shri Brijmohan Sharma, a Senior worker on violence against women from SARD, NGO, Sirohi. She discussed the journey of women from childhood to motherhood and the travails faced women by her in this. The stereotypical representation of women and its reinforcement in the family and society leads to a creation of inequality. This is further portrayed by media which is a potentially powerful source of information and leads to gender appropriation through certain practices and behaviour. This imagery is blindly ascribed without realizing the trap of victimhood which women get into. Ms. AbhaBhaya shared a few clippings of celebrating the coming together of young women to speak up against violence.

A GUEST LECTURE ON - "COMMUNICATION SKILLS AND CAREER OPTIONS"

Speaker- Shri Manoj Kumar Sharma IAS

6 February 2016

Shri Manoj Kumar Sharma, Deputy Chief Protocol Officer, Government of Rajasthan, an IAS Officer motivated the students to work dedicatedly and with sincerity to achieve the goals that they have set in their lives. He not only spoke about being attached to mother land, but also what he said made the NSS volunteers feel more confident for putting their efforts for the upliftment of the country.

He opened the session with "How to prepare for the IAS and enhance communication skills".

The IIS University started the IAS Preparatory classes in 2013. The students are prepared along with graduation for the competitive exams. In the very first year 60% of the students cleared the Prelim Exams. Ongoing batch too is being prepared by experienced faculty to be able to clear the exam in their first attempt.

Mr. Sharma's speech was a combination of dedication towards deciding student's dreams, aiming high and achieving goals and finally living LIFE. It inspired the NSS volunteers for aiming high in life. 160 NSS Volunteers participated in the same.

FEMINIST TAKE ON SEXUAL HARASSMENT AGAINST WOMEN

ARMAAN GROUP

13 February 2016

Whether it is a workplace, a market or even an educational institution, sexual harassment is prevalent in the society massively. To promote awareness among the volunteers, the NSS units of The IIS University invited the volunteers of Armaan to throw some light on the issue. They started their presentation by showing a video about the impact of patriarchy on the Indian girls and how they should unite to break the force of patriarchy from the roots. The video was impactful, and all the students were moved.

Next, they started discussing about what defines sexual harassment and how it affects the confidence and self-esteem of the victims. We had a discussion about how to react when a situation of this sort takes place wherein we concluded that no matter what, the authorities find one way or the other to humiliate, ridicule and demean the victim.

The session concluded with sharing of some helpline numbers for assistance. They also informed us that Jaipur Police is now on Whats up App for assistance which turned out to be new information for many. Overall, the session was informative and gave the NSS volunteers confidence to stand up against the evil of sexual harassment. 154 NSS Volunteers participated in the same

European Appreciation of Indian Culture: on Geeta

20 February 2016

Carlo Albert Dorigatti, Chairman, Karma Free Trust, Holland shared his experience of being in India and that too in the feet of Lord Krishna. He narrated how he had visions of a land unknown which beckoned him all his life. He suddenly decided to come to India while on a trip to Afghanistan as a tourist. He realized his spiritual calling when he chanced to read the Bhagwat Gita. He directly flew to Delhi and took bus to Vrindavan and met his Guru and since then there is no looking back. Carlo has adopted the Hindu way of life, has taken to strict vegetarian diet and spends all his time in the service of Govinddevji of Jaipur. He also takes out time to deliver lectures and interactive session on Indian Culture and spiritual aspects of Hinduism. He appealed to the students to devote a few minutes of the day chant the name of Krishna and read a few slokas of Gita every day as it consists of the essence of human life. He sang bhajans and slokas from Gita and thereafter interpreted them in simple words for the students. The programme ended with soft chanting of Hare-Rama Hare-Krishna. 130 NSS Volunteers participated in the same and they appreciated the session and marveled at the comprehension of The Indian Culture by this Italian business who gave up everything to hear his hearts calling.

Saksham Self-Defence Camp in Campus

23 February to 4 March 2016

Self-Defence and protection is a priority for girls these days. Saksham, the Self-Defence workshop was organized by the IIS University in joint collaboration with Rajasthan State Sports Council Jaipur. 187 NSS Volunteers participated in the same. This ten day camp from 23rd was aimed at empowering the girl students with the skills of self defence. This programme was designed to make the girls more aware and prepared to face any situation that might occur in everyday life. The coach team was led by Mr. Manoj Goyar , with three assistant coaches viz. Manish Verma, Vinay Kumawat and Chaksu Kanda. They taught Taekwondo and karate to the girls, by using which the girls could smartly throw the opponent and save themselves.

Interactive Session on Cleanliness

27 February 2016

Ms. Chanda Asani asked the students to consider their campus as their body. If they give 20 minutes for cleaning their bodies then they need to think the proportion of time to put towards cleaning their surroundings too if it is part of their body. It is possible that the dirtiness is invisible to people, as the surrounding is not considered, as their own personal space.

Dr Sharad Rathore made the students take oath to commit 2 hours per week for cleanliness.

Students were then divided into groups and they were allocated blocks in campus to monitor and keep clean. They decided to commit to cleanliness and keep the campus and the surroundings clean. 150 NSS Volunteers participated in the same

GUEST LECTURE ON HIV AIDS

DR. PRADEEP CHAUDHARY, RSACS, JOINT DIRECTOR

11 March 2016

Dr. Pradeep Chaudhary, Joint Director (IEC) & APD (RSACS), from Rajasthan State AIDS Control Society, Jaipur delivered a lecture on HIV AIDS And Youth Vulnerability on 11th March 2016. He said that the youth of today, specially the women are highly vulnerable to HIV AIDS and that is why it is important to organize such a lecture in women's university. He shared the statistical figures which showed the growing menace of HIV in India, in Rajasthan and then in Jaipur which was alarming. He emphasized on the need for awareness and right information to prevent the onslaught of HIV. He discussed the modes of HIV transmission among the youth and warned the students to adopt protective measures such as use disposable syringes, use of condoms, and ensure the status of the blood donors. He also insisted on the students to strictly avoid multiple sex partners. He also shared actions that do not transmit HIV like hand-shake, or sharing a towel or soap etc, to develop sensitivity towards the affected population. This would avoid marginalization of the people infected with this syndrome and create a more humane approach towards them. He was accompanied by master trainer Mr. UmeshRautrey, who has been imparting awareness training at the grassroot levels. He shared the need to know the thoroughly about HIV and AIDS before going to create awareness. The session was informative for NSS Volunteers. 159 NSS Volunteers participated in the same

FILM SCREENING – DR. GARIMA SRIVASTAVA

19 March 2016

In order to empower and arm the girls with insight that will help them protect themselves from almost any type of danger and equip them with self confidence, a session on Women Empowerment was organized for the NSS volunteers. 190 NSS Volunteers participated in the same

The guest speaker on this occasion was Dr. GarimaSrivastav, Head, Department of Journalism and mass Communication. She encouraged the girls with these words “ A young woman who knows how to connect with – and listen to – the voice of her own authentic self is emboldened by inner resilience and self-esteem, whereas a woman disconnected from this inner power source is vulnerable to outside forces”.

She, through short films prompted the girls to herald a revolution that challenges women to break through gender stereotypes and achieve their dreams. She raised certain pertinent questions through her short films related to the depiction of women in media and disapproved of the ways women are represented and targeted in marketing and media? After every film , she took up asked the girls to reflect and share their view point while giving tips on how to recognize offensive, harmful, and manipulative messages, how to keep your self-esteem intact, and become empowered to speak up and demand changes!

This session provided a platform to the students to share their view points without hesitation while helping them maintain healthy attitudes, values, and self-esteem.

GUEST LECTURE ON GOVERNMENT SCHEMES – SUKRITI DEV VERMA

26 March 2016

Ms. Sukriti Dev Verma, from Department of Computer Science conducted a session on Welfare Schemes of Government of Rajasthan with the help of a Power Point Presentation. 150 NSS Volunteers participated in the same

During the interactive session she screened three short films which were made by her to make the people aware at the grassroot level for BPL population. These animated films were made during 2010-11 under Rajasthan Health System Development Project to spread awareness about health facilities offered by the government in hospitals for BPL. She also talked about and highlighted two types of housing schemes offered by the Government for BPL population: Chief Minister's Rural BPL Housing Scheme and Urban BPL Housing Scheme. She also shared about AmritamJalamYojana, related to cleaning, storage and conservation of water around Jaipur city with public private partnership of Rajasthan Patrika and Government of Rajasthan. This session was very informative and the volunteers gained practical knowledge which would be helpful to them for working in community.

PRIORITIZING NSS

2 April 2016

Ms. ChandaAsani shared with the NSS Volunteers what volunteering for NSS means. The criterion for NSS Certificate entails 240 hours of work and participating in one Special Camp. During the six semesters of volunteering in NSS she stressed that the volunteers need to be participating to enjoy and learn. Not only do they participate in regular activities of NSS but also work in different spheres like in government schools where they can contribute a lot. Working with specially challenged children is another area where they could give their time. All this at one level would be helping children of under privilege section at another level this would help them learn about themselves. It would bring NSS' motto 'You before Me' functioning in their lives. Volunteering in NSS is more about participation that struggling to complete required attendance to clear activity. 130 NSS Volunteers participated in the same

Saleeb: Annual Play

4th September 2015

Annual Play Workshop culminated in Annual play staged at The IIS Auditorium on 4th September 2015, 6:30 PM. The chief guest of the day was Justice Manish Bhandari of Rajasthan High Court. Show also had presence of other theater artists and around 50 members of Senior Citizen Forum of S.F.S. The theatrical society of The IIS University organised a one month theatre workshop from 4th August to 3rd September and staged the Annual play on 4th September 2015 at the IIS Auditorium, which was a result of the same. The workshop was organised by 5 SENSES, a Mumbai based theatre group. The play was directed by Mr. Oasis and Mr. Dhirendra.

The play was an irony on the human society as a whole. The plot of the play depicted the difference between humans and scarecrows and showed how humans are turning into scarecrows by losing their humanity and destroying others for their own benefit. It also presented the suppression of lower class by the more powerful and elite people of the society.

The most important and interesting aspect of the play was, that the whole script was self written.

The play started with the lamp lighting ceremony and pooja by Vice Chancellor Dr. Ashok Gupta, Registrar Dr. Raakhi Gupta accompanied by Theater society coordinator Dr. Aditi R Khandelwal. The play was inaugurated by Justice Manish Bhandari, High Court, Jaipur.

The performance began in a narrative style and told the story of two villages, one with higher class powerful people and the other the lower class people whomade scarecrows. Their was effective use of lights and sound which helped in building atmosphere and most importantly enhanced the play. The highlights ofthe play were crocodile dance and most importantly the climax scene of the play"THE COURT SCENE"which was the heart of the play which showed the dying humanity and presented how humans cunningly can make innocents into villains.

The play ended by RORY (the protagonist scarecrow) giving the answer of how he came to life and telling the meaning of true love by giving up his own life for other. The show was witnessed by more than 400 people including students, teachers, parents and various theater artists and had a large media coverage.

The chief guest Justice Bhandari appreciated the efforts of the students and theme of the play by distributing the certificates of participation and giving away memento.

Traffic Rules : Kabhi Na Jaana Bhool

27th February 2016

Creating awareness among people on traffic rules is essential to minimise the number of road accidents in our city. For this an extension activity was organised by the Department of Financial Studies on 27th February 2016, namely, "Traffic Rules: Kabhi Na jaana Bhool". It was an awareness activity in which 18 students made the people responsive towards the road safety rules to be followed. Students first educated themselves regarding the various road safety and traffic rules. Later on the students exhorted people to learn road rules and to strictly follow them in order to avoid accidents. They circulated the message that the number of road accidents would come down only when people adhered road rules strictly. The place chosen for the activity was the traffic light of SFS area in Mansarovar, Jaipur. The students talked to the people about the importance of following the road lights, wearing helmet and seat belts. People of the area supported the students by listening to the students and following what was promoted by the students. To make a strong impact of this activity the students prepared the pamphlets, banners and stick-on which were distributed to the people on roads. The banners and pamphlets contained the driving rules and meaning of different road signals. 34 students participated in the event. This helped the students to spread the message prominently. The enthusiasm of the students for the activity was elevated and they spread the message to as many people as they could.

Financial Literacy: Gain for BPL Group

26th February 2016

The need for financial literacy is a prerequisite for financial inclusion in our country. The greatest bang-for-the-buck is when financial literacy programs are targeted towards households that are uneducated or financially illiterate. Careful attention should be paid to targeting financial literacy programs towards such populations. In order to promote it an extension activity was organised by the Department of Financial Studies on 26th February 2016, "Financial Literacy: Gain for BPL Group". Under this activity, the students were made aware of the various banking schemes and programs of the Government like the Jan-Dhan-Yojana, Bhamasha Yojana and kishori Suraksha Yojana. A senior bank official conducted a short lecture to deal with the queries of the students and to improve their understanding of the basic of opening a bank account. Banners, posters and a small skit were created to strengthen the impact of the message amongst the students. The kacchi basti of Dadabari, sanganer was selected for this awareness program. Students created pamphlets which had sufficient information of the basic requirements to open up an account. Students performed a small skit on the need for opening a bank account and its benefits amongst the BPL sector. The students also conducted personal conversations with the each people of the locality, listened to their problems and guided them to resolve it. The response of the people was positive and the people of the locality showed interest in opening bank accounts and asked students to guide them. 34 students enthusiasm for the activity was commendable and they took the contact details of the people to further the impact of this awareness program. 18 students participated in the activity.

From this activity the students learned the waste management in an interesting way and also taught the same to other students and faculty. This would help them to reuse the wedding cards at their homes also. A feeling of social responsibility was inculcated in the students when they interacted with the members of both the NGO's. They also learned that their small effort can be of great help to such people who really need love and affection from all of us. Some of the students also decided to visit these places and help them regularly by devoting their time and fulfilling their requirements.

Extension activity - Helping Hands

28 - 29th March, 2016

Department of Biotechnology organized an extension activity named Helping Hands. Student volunteers convinced faculty and students to donate used clothes. All clothes collected were checked to ensure that they were not torn. Students washed the clothes (if received unwashed) and ironed them. Then they segregated the clothes according to different age groups and packed them. The clothes of children were donated to NGO NayaSavera and of adults to Mother Teresa Home on 29 March 2016. The students interacted with the care taker at Mother Teresa Home and enquired about the contributions they can make on their end to help the need. 20 students participated in the event.

Students were overwhelmed when they visited NayaSavera. They felt happy to contribute their bit to the society. They also asked if such activities can be conducted on a regular basis. Two students have even become the registered volunteers of NayaSavera and are working on different projects for the NGO.

A skill Empowerment: Knitting by hand

9-12th March, 2016

The Department of Fashion and Textile Technology, The IIS-University planned two day knitting activity on 09.03.16 and 12.03.16 from 10.30 am to 12.30 pm on skill development and income generation at Bhadarwas Basti, Mansarovar.

Eight student volunteers and one teacher coordinator- Ms.Lakshmi Agarwal from Department of Fashion and Textile Technology went as activity demonstrators.

The knitting activity was planned to impart the basic knowledge and skill needed for construction, accessorizing and ornamentation of household woolens like Caps, Sweaters, and Scarfs. The knitting skill imparted could be utilized for household consumption and also to generate income.

This activity was basically undertaken as it was simple and easy to grasp. The women folk especially the adolescent girls, who were not allowed to attend school, were targeted for the activity. Once the skill of knitting is learnt a product could be made in short span of time. Secondly, as the activity involves very minimal investment for materials, it could be used as reasonably good means to generate income with only time as investment.

It was observed that the adolescent and middle-aged female residents of Bhadarwas Basti Mansarovar, had ample time at their disposal which could be utilised for imparting the skill and product development, after they were done with their daily chores.

On 08.03.16 the activity coordinator went to the locale- Bhadarwas Basti, Mansarovar to organize and collect women for the extension activity scheduled for 09.03.16 and 12.03.16 for this purpose, the Head of Bastiwas contacted. With her consent, the Basti ground was finalized as the place for activity demonstration,

On first day of extension activity (09.03.16) twelve women residents and sixteen young girls assemble there to learn the knitting skill. The total target group was divided into eight groups. One volunteer from the Department of Fashion and Textile Technology were assigned to each group who demonstrated knitting skills to the female (adult/adolescent) residents. The three snitches demonstrated and taught to them were:

1) Casting the stitches

2) Knit Stitches

3) Purl Stitches

Although the first one hour was struggling, both for the demonstrators as well as the residents, eventually almost 50% women residents of the total target group enthusiastically learnt handling of needles and casting of the stitches and started practicing them.

On the second day of the extension activity on 12.03.16 once the women folk got a hang of handling the knitting needles and casting of stitches, knit and purl stitches were taught to them. Concept of increasing and decreasing stitches was also demonstrated to them young girls were particularly quick in learning these techniques.

The woman residents (target group) appreciated the fact somehow; they could use their ideal time to knit woolens of functional use.

On the parting note, the residents were encouraged to knit length and width of the front of sweater and engaged themselves in completion of the back as well.

The activity had a very positive response. On the first day, twenty-eight women (adults and adolescents) residents willingly came and all of them eagerly learnt the art of knitting. Once the length and width of sweater started taking shape, they got little accustomed to the method and resident's enthusiasm gained momentum.

On the second day of demonstration, few more young girls from the Basti joined the group to learn the skill. By the end of the demonstration session the new group of girls was quick to handle the knitting needles, wool and stitches.

As winters had just gone by, most of the female residents knew the importance of woolens and wanted to learn hand knitting, so that in their leisure time they could engage

Gender Sensitization sessions for MBA students

18 August - 7 Sept. 2015

Gender Sensitization sessions were conducted for MBA students by the Womens cell of the University. 50 students participated in the sessions. Index cards were given to write what students considered about gender for 5 minutes in the first session. Ms. Asani shared that she was teaching Women's Studies here and Women's Studies is study of structures from underprivileged perspective. She continued that there were layers and layers of gender and would address beauty that day. What we saw in mirror was only reflection which too cannot be seen in absence of light. Invariably people tend to see only flaws when they look into mirrors. In TV we see advertisements only for fair and lovely never black and beautiful. In matrimonial columns there are demands for fair convent educated homely girl not a single one asking for a dark beauty. Soap operas in TV are value laden about what beauty should be and form uniform parameters of beauty. Ms. Asani's grandmother did not allow her to see the mirror and since she grew up with people of all shades and shapes in her own family and got scope of considering people without taking appearance into the picture. Because she did not see mirror she did not develop insecurities as she thought only black was beautiful also did not get slotted due to appearances!

After getting stereotypical responses of what made personality she shared that a single characteristic did not make personality but good health is basic ingredient that makes us confident. Good health comes from balanced nutrition. Good health also is first criteria for beauty and for her only one. She asked students to increase their diet slowly, basic foods, start brisk walks in parks and not see mirror for seven days, most difficult to accomplish! Changes that are complex need paths that are not taken!

Very few of the understanding of gender shared by the students addressed social construction as gender. Mostly being male and/or female and related attributes was seen as gender.

Gender Sensitization Session with Ms. Meenakshi Bhanjdeo 24 August 2015

An interaction session was organized by Women's Cell on 24 August 2015 in AV Hall. Ms. Meenakshi Bhanjdeo, Director, Pravah Initiative, Jaipur interacted with 50 students as an expert. Ms. Bhanjdeo shared her experiences and talked about the aspects of day to day discrimination and stereotypical assumptions of what men and women absorb and accept as final. Students of Sociology and Women's Studies participated in the session. Ms. Chanda Asani also interacted and asked the students what they considered gender as, and asked them to write in five minutes. After that she proceeded to share gender issues related to beauty, menstrual health, History and religion. Around 50 students participated in the session.
