Guest Lecture On “Social Media Management”

12th Aug 2016

A Guest lecture was organized on 12th August 2016 on the topic “Social Media Management” in the AV Hall of The IIS University. Mr Shreyans Kasliwal, Chair-Yi Jaipur Chapter, Mr Sankal Temani, Executive, Yi Jaipur Chapter, Ms Pallavi Mishra and few other Yi members were present on the occasion. The speaker was Mr Dilnawaz Khan. He is an entrepreneur, evangelist & an engineer. Prior to the lecture on “Social Media Management”, Ms Pallavi Mishra, a Yi member, briefly introduced the project “MASOOM” to Yuva members. This project deals with creating awareness about child sexual abuse among students of Primary classes. MASOOM is a platform where children are made aware about the difference between good touch & bad touch. The purpose of the project is not to scare children but to make them aware regarding child sexual abuse.

Social networking is a crucial part of our lives today, but managing it all can be overwhelming. Mr Khan delivered his talk in a very simple and interesting manner. He said that social media is like the wrapper of a chocolate which envelops people all around and drives them. He also gave some very useful tips to students on how to manage their social media accounts.

All the 64 students who attended the session were highly motivated to work for the community in its direction.

Peace with YUVA

There is no path to peace, peace is the only path.

-Mahatma Gandhi

In today's age everyone is in search of mental peace due to the rush in life. But most of us fail to understand that the peace of mind lies within us, and to gain it we need to peep deep inside ourselves and introspect. Healthy being is one whose mental as well as physical state is at peace and 'what exercise is to body, meditation is to mind'.

To introduce this to YUVA students of The IISUniversity, a workshop was organized on 30th of January at 11:00 am in New Hall and 45 students registered for the same. It was the first time a pan India meditation workshop observing the peace and non - violence day. Moreover, mindfulness training for students gives them tools to help them remain calm, sustain attention, and able to focus. It reduces stress and anxiety and boots levels of attention and concentration. Chief Guest for the workshop was Mr. Narpat Singh who enlightened the members of 'CII YI' with his words of wisdom and an experimental session was conducted by Sr. Shimla which was followed by a twenty minute meditative session. Overall it was an enthralling and learning experience.

IISU Theatrical Society

Annual Play – Workshop & Showcase

5th October 2016

The Theatrical society of The IIS University in collaboration with 5 Senses Theatre group, Mumbai organized a 35 days theatre workshop during the month of September. As a result of the same, the team, the team staged the Annual Play on 5th October 2016 at the IIS Auditorium. The team also kept a pre screening of the show for the students of three government schools. One of the most interesting things about this year's annual play was the fact that the team had a whopping participation of 57 students.

The play was adopted by 'The Miser', a five act comedy play written by the French playwright Moliere. The play depicts a classic conflict between love and money. The protagonist is a sixty year old man who loves nothing but his money. The comedy develops through a series of tricks the characters hatch to make the old man change his decisions and perceptions. Through the play the team makes its best effort to show the reflection of the society in a humorous way.

Annual Play was organized on October 5, 2016 in IIS Auditorium. Mr. Sudhanshu Pandey, model, singer and actor was the chief guest for the evening. Audience included theatre practitioners, senior citizens, college students and their families.

The event started with the hawanpooja followed by the lamp lighting ceremony by the Vice Chancellor Dr. Ashok Gupta, accompanied by the Registrar Dr. Rakhi Gupta and Theatre Society coordinator Dr. Aditi R Khandelwal. The chief guest for the evening Mr. Sudhanshu Pandey, Bollywood actor and singer inaugurated the show.

The effective use of lights and set helped in building the atmosphere and enhanced the play. The play was directed by SweetyRuhel and had acting guidance from Mr. GurinderSethi. The show was a huge success and the efforts of the students were appreciated by one and all.

Performance of Street Play on “Organ Donation” in SantokbaDurlabji Hospital, Jaipur

20th January, 2017

Fourteen Students performed Street Play on the topic of “Organ Donation” in SantokbaDurlabji Hospital, Jaipur. The event was organized by CII-Yi on January 20, 2017 on the occasion of “Yi Gift an Organ Day”.

NukkadNatak was conducted in collaboration with a team of CI YII, The IISU Theatrical Society and Dr. PiyushMathur who is a Nephrologist to celebrate Yi Gift an Organ day on the 20th of January 2017 in conjunction with the National Volunteering Week 2017. Gift an Organ has always been an initiative to increase awareness on organ donation and it is for sure that slowly but surely we are educating people and removing the myths related to this noble gesture. “NukkadNatak have been an integral part and The idea is to propagate social and political messages in a humorous and sarcastic way and create awareness among the masses. “NukkadNatak”, is characterized by highly enthusiastic and energetic performance so as to attract maximum crowd.”

As NukkadNatak started there was an overwhelming response of all the audience. Their audience was the eager crowd that had gathered in the hospital to learn about “organ donation”. Organ donation basically is removal of viable organs from a donor (brain dead individual) and transplanting them to a recipient. Solid organs like heart, lungs, kidneys, liver, pancreas and intestine can be donated. Other tissues like corneas (eyes), skin, bones, cartilages, etc. can also be donated. ICG girl’s aid to aware everyone about the organ donation, the fourteen-member group reached out to the people through their thought-provoking play hustle around the various aspects of donation. According to Mr. PiyushMathur, he will be to encourage the general population to learn from positive people on how to bring more meaning into their own lives despite all the challenges. He also conveyed the message about the organ donation and details regarding to it. These fears can be fought and lives can be saved by spreading the message on this noble cause, “The people, especially the youth, are sensitized and open to the idea of organ donation. The need of the hour is to reach out to one and all.”So today, let’s pledge to gift a life and enlighten the people on the cause.

The play attracted a lot of interest from the hospital from the elderly, to the youth. The enthusiasm from the audience demonstrated the growing need and demand which bring people together. Audiences appreciated and applauded the efforts put in by the students. They also thanked The IISU Theatrical for organising such an awareness programme.

Day1 . 3april2017, commenced with inaugural ceremony by lamp lighting by dignitaries followed by saraswativandana. Guest of honour in the ceremony was Professor Robin Das, eminent theatre director and actor and chief guest was MsMitaVashisht eminent theatre artist and bollywood actor. Welcome address was delivered by the Vice Chancellor Dr. Ashok Gupta. The aims and objectives of the conference were introduced by Dr. Aditi RKhandelwal, Conference Convener. Guest of honour professor Robin Das shared his experience about how theatre can play an eminent role in educating students.

The inaugural keynote address was delivered by MsMitaVashisht. She enlightened the participants about the role of theatre, identity of self, voice and emphasized that “theatre is itself education”. The kernel of her address was the role of theatre and its technique to discover self and how she emancipated women sex workers through performance in theatre. Dr. Raakhi Gupta, Registrar The IIS University proposed a formal vote of thanks in the ceremony.

The inaugural session was followed by two technical sessions. The first technical session was a panel discussion based on the theme “Social and Cultural aspects of Theatre in Education”. The session was coordinated by Dr. Ameeta Sharma and moderated by Mr. Kuljeet Singh. The panellists in the session were Professor Robin Das, Professor SunitTandon and Mr. K G Krishnamurthy.

Professor Robin Das spoke on “theatre and culture” and introduced the rural context of theatre. He spoke about children’s theatre and how the role of theatre in curriculum is limited. Mr. K G Krishnamurthy discussed about the new experiments in theatre. He enlightened the audience about performance oriented and process oriented theatre. He said theatre helps children to evolve socially.

Professor SunitTandon shared his experience about working in college theatre groups and how TIE plays a role in fighting stage fear and rediscovering self. It also creates cultural awareness and helps to develop leadership skills. The panel discussion was very fruitful and vividly brought forth the significant role of theatre in socio political and cultural aspects of life.

The second technical session was on “The Role of theatre in education for promoting regional theatre”. The session was co-ordinated by Ms. Abhishikha Joshi and was chaired by Mr. Shiva Tammu, Theatre director and actor , faculty , Department of Drama , University of Rajasthan. The session had two speakers Professor Robin Das and Shri K.G Krishnamurthy. The session began with the introduction of both speakers by the chairperson. The first speaker, Professor Robin Das talked about modern theatre and also about creative satisfaction. He also emphasized that uncertainty is the essence of drama and concluded by depicting inclusive nature of theatre which accommodates the refined and the raw, the professionals and the amateurs.

Shri K G Krishnamurthy while giving his interpretation of "Theatre in Education", talked about giving a theatre experience to the students in the process of learning, he called teaching- a process of explaining the subtext instead of the text. He also highlighted theatre as being a process and not a product. He concluded by signifying theatre as a medium to solve various socio-cultural problems. The session concluded with 15 paper presentations by the participants.

Day 2 started with the third technical session chaired by Dr. Archana Srivastava , theatre director, head, department of drama, University of Rajasthan and coordinated by Ms. Meha Saxena. The chairperson introduced the speakers. Session had two speakers Mr Sanjay Kumar, associate professor and artistic director, department of English, Hansrajcollege and Mr. Arvind Gaur, director and founder, Asmita group. The session was on 'Theatre as a catalyst in public movements'

Mr Sanjay Kumar mainly focused on the case study he did on 'NITHARI' i.e the slums and tried to use theatre as a weapon for the upliftment of children who faced child abuse, organ theft, kidnapping, murders , rapes and other atrocities .

The second speaker Mr Arvind Gaur emphasized that "performance is the key to human experience". He also stated that contemporary theatre must be enriched with influential ideas of social change to explore its potential. He also briefed about the street plays he has performed under his theatre group 'asmita'.

Technical session IV started at 12:30 after short tea break. The session was on 'Theatre as a career - Prospects and Challenges'. Professor Ravi Chaturvedi chaired the session and it was coordinated by Dr. Vandana Sachdeva. First speaker of the session was Prof. Beena Agarwal, professor, department of Sanskrit, dean, faculty of arts, University of Rajasthan. She spoke about 'NATYASHASTRA' as a complete book to reform education in all sections of the society . Previously education was limited to knowledge of Vedas and higher class, this particular text helped to educate the deprived women and less educated classes and is referred as the fifth Veda. This inseminated knowledge, culture, education, craft,yog, voice, rhythm and aesthetic sensitivity in the community.

The second speaker, professor Asha Pandey, retired professor, department of European languages, literature and culture studies, University of Rajasthan spoke about meaning of 'natak' which means expression and action. She also stated that theatre has served and touched many lives as a concise keeper and an agent of change as well as instigator of protest against injustice perpetuated by state. She also stated that Theatre played a pertinent role in French Revolution as well the Indian Freedom Movement. Session concluded with 23 paper presentations by the participants.

In all 30 faculty members, 125students and 30 research scholars shared their research work through oral paper presentations on both days. The presentations were evaluated by the judges Mr Kuljeet Singh and Prof. Beena Agarwal.

Milk Testing Drive

Date : 24 March, 2017

Milk is the most common source of nutrition which is consumed on daily basis in every household. Adulterants if any, present in the milk can cause considerable damage to liver and kidney. In order to check the milk quality, a milk testing booth was set up in the campus outside the D-Block on 24 March, 2017. Students and faculty members were requested to bring milk raw (unboiled) milk samples (200 ml) consumed daily by them. A total of about 36 milk samples were tested which belonged to both pasteurized milk of regularly used brands like Amul, Lotus, Mother dairy, Gorus, Sarasetc as well as milk sold by local vendors of different areas. Students tested the presence of water, sucrose, starch, ammonium sulphate, acid, soap and formalin in the collected samples and generated report which was given to the participants on 25 March 2017. It was found that approximately 14% of the samples were containing residues of acid and about 6% contained formalin. Excess of water was found in about 20% of the samples. However, the presence of other adulterants was not detected in any of the samples collected. A total of 9 students participated in the event.

Generating awareness among Farmers regarding Harmful effect of Pesticides

Date: 22nd March 2017

A visit to a village Hajayawala, Sanganer, Jaipur was organized by the Department of Environmental Science & Eco-friendly Association of the IIS University on 22nd March 2017 as an extension activity for generating awareness amongst villagers regarding harmful effect of extensive use of pesticides, chemical fertilizers, textile wastewater for irrigation purpose in agricultural fields and their effects on biotic and abiotic components of Environment. A group of 25 students and two faculty members of the department participated in the activity.

The major objective of the extension activity was to make aware the farmers about the ill effects of use of pesticides, chemical fertilizers and textile wastewater in the agricultural fields. Keeping this in view, the students of M.Sc (Environmental Science) delivered lectures and explained the technique of preparing compost and vermicompost utilizing their biodegradable waste from household and agriculture which would replace the chemical fertilizers preventing the loss of soil fertility to create awareness among farmers. Manufacturing the compost and vermicompost at large scale can be adopted as one of their occupations improving their economic status.

Students also prepared posters related to the subject to make the farmers understand things in a better way. They not only gave information about the harmful effects of use of pesticides, chemical fertilizers and textile wastewater but also shared the information with the villagers about the solution which they can adopt to reduce their effects on environmental components, if alternate source of water is not available. A brief session on the various government schemes offered for the farmers were also discussed during the session.

The farmers were found to be enthusiastic about the sessions. This awareness program was found to be informative and knowledgeable for the villagers.

Value Addition Techniques work(appliqué craft techniquesand product development)

24-25th August, 2016

The Department of Fashion and Textile Technology organized a two day Community Outreach Programme at Bhatta Basti, Shastri Nagar, Jaipur where 20 students volunteered with two teacher coordinators, Ms. Aditi Singh and Ms Yogita Joshi on Skill Development for income generation.

On 24th August 2016 students from Fashion and Textile Department with their co-coordinator left The IIS University for Bhatta Basti, Shasrti Nagar Jaipur. The organization had recently upgraded their unit and thus required assistance in learning new skill to help the associated women to earn a sustainable income.

The student volunteers were divided into five groups who trained the women participantants in different areas of the programme. Following were the five groups finalized for the activity:

- Shibori and Tie Dye Techniques
- Smocking for cushion covers
- Stencil printing and hand painting on home textiles
- Screen making and printing
- Embroidery: Sindhi Kadai

35 women participated, under the supervision of MsKomal Srivastava, Owner and Founder, Ms Sindhu, Unit In-charge and Ms Anna Troupe, Designer from their U.S. Collaboration, and were divided into groups of five to six women according to their area of expertise and interest. On the second day of activity, 3rd September 2016 the ladies at the basti had rearranged themselves in different groups so that they could participate in other activities that were being conducted by the students and coordinators at the unit.

The Programme started with a warm welcome and formal introduction from both sides. The students gave a brief idea of the different activities and started imparting the skills to the participants.

Six student participants were involved in training the basti women at Hunar in the technique of shibori tying and dyeing. The ladies were well versed in the art of Bandeji tying but the concept of shibori was very new to them. Student designed two stoles and few samples with different motifs and tying techniques on basic cotton fabric. They also taught the women, dyeing of cotton fabric using direct dyes and common salt which they could perform easily at their own homes. The activity was well received by the women and they found it very educational and useful for future product development. The students made sure to engage the women in the whole process and asked the women to design by combining the different shibori tying techniques for product development.

Five students were involved in training the basti ladies in different techniques of smocking. Students designed two cushion covers and three samples with different smocking patterns. The women of the organization found the smocking technique new and useful for designing cushion covers with easily available fabrics. They even tried making their own samples on fabrics that were available at the workshop. Two students from the department were trained in sindhikadai and were asked to teach the same to the interested women of the basti.

Five students were assigned to train the Hunar women in stencil making and painting using fabric colors. The students explained to them the use of stencil to create a variety of designs on home textiles as well as on garments. They also explained to them how one design could be divided into two to three stencils depending on the number of colors and intricacies of the design. They talked about the different methods of stencil painting and also showed the women to create designs using innate objects of nature like a leaf.

The whole process was very well received and appreciated by Ms. Komal Srivastava and her team at the organization Hunar. They felt that students volunteers had managed to train the basti women in areas that could be easily taken up by them at their home level and could now broaden their portfolio and also at the same time the organization's portfolio. They expressed their gratitude and thanks to all the students who had volunteered for the programme and discussed endeavors and excellent side events that could be carried out between both institutions in future

8th March,2017

Department of Home Science (Human Development), THE IIS University, Jaipur, conducted extension activity on “Life Skill Education : Walk With Confidence” on adolescents on 8TH March, 2017 in Government Secondary school,Kalyanpura, Sanganer, Jaipur ,Pratham.

Students and staff conducting the activity

The extension activity was organized by Dr. Nalini Totuka, Assistant Professor, and Ms. Archana Kumari, Department of HSc, Human Development and students of MSc HSc(HD). The programme aimed at equipping adolescents knowledge regarding concept, need , basics and importance of life skill. The life skill is important for the overall development of the adolescent in today’s competitive world. This extension activity was for urban rural adolescents aged 12-17 yrs. This group was selected because teen is the most vulnerable age, so they must be acquainted with the knowledge of Life Skill Education. SanganerKachiBasti, Anganwadiwas selected as venue for the extension activity.

The materials used for the activity was charts, poster and Nukkad play was conducted. The charts were on core skills, definition and concept of life skill education. The adolescents were given knowledge about decision making skills.

The activity was conducted in four phases:

- a) Introduction on LSE
- b) Nukkad play
- c) Game on listening skills
- d) Interaction with adolescents

The activity began with the introduction on the life skill education given by MSc HSc (HD) students. The activity started at 11:00 am with the Welcome address by Nisha (MSc HSc (HD) IIth Semester) to all the adolescents of school. Around 75students participated in the activity

Then students of MSc HSc (Human Development) conducted the dramatic play on decision making. The students through play convey the message that decision making is an important part of the personality and it should be taken after using thinking skills. The play was for half an hour. All the students enjoyed it thoroughly.

Then to enhance communication skills the students planned a game on listening skills. The same sentence was communicated in the group of 10 students and response of the last student was listened. The meaning of the sentence was changed completely when it reaches to the last student. Then the students were explained the importance of listening i.e. first listen then speak. The activity was enjoyed fully by the adolescents.

Then in last, students explained them about the possible outcome of the life skill education. If the teen learn the skills, they will have enhanced self esteem, assertiveness, social sensitivity, listening, communication skills and ability to plan and set goals. These all the skills are important for the personality development of the teen. The aim to acquaint insight the life skill education was achieved successfully. 9 students participated in the activity.

The students also studied the rural area through the use of Participatory Rural Appraisal technique.

The visit gave an overview of rural habitation and life -style. The students became acquainted with problems of education in rural areas and the bidirectional relationship between poverty and illiteracy. This motivated the students to offer free of cost services in education for improving the standard of students belonging to weaker sections of society.

Legal Awareness Camp
Rajasthan State Commission for Women, Centre for Women's Studies & Department of Sociology, The IIS University
17th August 2016

A one day Legal awareness camp was organized by the Centre for Women's Studies and Department of Sociology in collaboration with Rajasthan State Commission for Women on 17 August, 2016. The programme started with Vandana followed by Lamp lighting. The Chief Guest of the programme was Smt. Suman Sharma, Chairperson, RSCW. The Keynote Speaker, was Dr. Pramila Sanjay. Dr. Ashok Gupta, Vice Chancellor, The IIS University, presided over the function. Dr. Raakhi Gupta, Registrar, and Prof N K Jain, Dean, Faculty of Arts & Social Sciences. Dr. Ashok Gupta welcomed the guests with flowers.

Dr. Ashok Gupta during his the welcome note shared the journey of ICG becoming Deemed University with 5000 students from all over the country. He said that the various departments from UG to PhD encouraged students not just to become good home makers but to become IAS and army officers, excel in multinationals, sports and literature. They learnt here Indian values. The only drawback was that the University was being run in a college campus. He requested the Chairperson RSCW to consider this to be able to achieve the dreams of education. He again welcomed all to this programme.

Smt. Suman Sharma started her inaugural speech with gratefulness to be able to speak in a University for first time. She started her term in RSCW with breaking some myths. She studying the dying cases in her files and realized it is not enough to teach girls to break silence. Girls have started going to police station but are unaware of their constitutional rights and the Sections in which they have to report. Because of that ignorance she decided to create awareness among women by organizing legal awareness camps. She expressed that although law is very boring but to create awareness she had to study it. She stressed that girls should know the importance of various sections of 354 of IPC. She shared a booklet that had all women related laws. She informed that the English version of the booklet is under publication.

Dr. Pramila Sanjay, Focal person of UNGCNI, made a lively presentation with the help of PPT about some aspects of the laws and constitutional rights related to women. She emphasized that girls should be aware of good touch and bad touch and should not feel guilty or afraid. They should ensure that FIR should be on green paper, they should read the signed FIR, edit it if required, take a photo immediately and get it printed. There is FIR also for against those not willing to take FIR.

Dr. Raakhi Gupta, Registrar, The IIS University, Jaipur delivered the vote of thanks.

100 students of UG and PG participated enthusiastically in the camp and raised several questions related to laws and exercise of their rights.
